UNITED STATES PRODUCTS. Agriculture is doubtless one of the richest resources of a nation's wealth and greatness. It has been so in allages, for the products of agriculture are the elements of art and manufacture. We have perused with pleasure an able paper recently read before the Geographical Statistical Society of New York City, by John Jay, e-q, in to the subject. He describes Agriculture as the largest of our national interests, employing forty-four per cent. of the male population, while Commerce, Manufactures. Trade, the Mechanic Arts and Mining, employ but thirty per cent. It represents PUT UP IN BAGS, FURNISHED AND about five-sixths of the capital of the country, and its products amount to some sixteen bundred millions of dollars a year .-In New York, notwithstanding the wealth of the Metropolie, the agricultural interest pays three-fourths of the taxes. As Mr. Webster remarked, Agriculture, Commerce and Manufactures stand together as pillars in a cluster, the largest in the centre; and that largest is Agriculture. As regards the grand topographical features of the country, two-fifths of the national territory are drained by the Mississippi and IN BAGS AND BARRELS. A VERY EXits tributaries; one-fourth of its area belongs to the Pacific; one-sixth to the Atlantic proper, one twenty sixth to the Lakes; oneninth to the Gulf, or one-third to the Atlantic including the Lakes and Gulf. There is a total main shore of 12,000 miles, and the Rivers entered to the head of tide water, give a total shore line of 33,000 miles. The general character of the soil from the Atlantie to the 98th meridian, and of the belt on the Pacific, is of great natural fertility. The number of acres occupied is some 300,000about one-sixth of the national area. These are distributed among forty States and Territories, with 1,600 county divisions. The THE RICHEST PHOSPHATIC GUANO number of farms and plantations is about 1,-500,000, with 113,000,000 of improved acres Having accepted the Agency for the sale of this and 180 000,000 of unimproved. The farms average 200 acres each, of the average value of $2,250, and an average of $100 worth of agricultural implements to each. The farms IT is PUT UP in BAGS AND BARRELS.

Projection, Mechanical, Architectural decomposition of the following and the following try, edited by W. E. Worther, a large Royal generally are the largest in the Southern States, South Carolina having, among 9,000 farms, 1,200 of over 1,000 acres each, and 16 age is in Maine-about 97 acres-ranging to about 120 in New York, New Jersey, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania and Ohio; rising to upward of 200 in Maryland, Kentucky and Tennessee; 300 in Virginia, North Carolina, Mississippi and Louisiana; 400 in Georgia, 500 in South Carolina, 900 in Texas, and 4, 400 in California. The last two averages are probably apparent rather than real. The census taken for 1850 shows Indian Corn, our native grain, to be the great staple of the country, yielding at that time six hundred millions of bushels, valued at three hundred millions of dollars--more than the combined value of the three next staples, Wheat, Cotton and Hay. The crop is grown from our Northern to our Southern limit, and affords a better test than any other, of the advance of American tillage. In no State has it retrograded. Its increase from 1840 to 1850 was 56 per cent, while the increase of population was only 33 per cent. The crop for 1856 was estimated at eight hundred millions of bushels-nearly double the crop of 1840. The Wheat crop from 1840 to 1850 increased only 15 per cent. In New England, the cultivation during that time declined 50 per cent. It languishes in New York, is nearly stationary in the Middle States, but is increasing largely in the Northwestern States. Chicago, which about twenty years ago imported flour and meal for her own consumpion, is now the greatest primary grain market in the world, rivalling Odessa and Galatz, Dantzic and St. Petersburg, and her brands of flour are recognized throughout Europe .-Of our exports of breadstuffs, Wheat is the principal item. In 1850, the proportion was $40,000,000 worth of Wheat to only $7,000,-000 of Indian Corn. Our exports of breadstuffe, according to Mr. Jay, have of late years singularly varied. In 1847, owing to the Irish Famine, they rose to $68,000,000. They fell in 1848 to $37,000,000 and in 1852 to $25,000,000, rising again in 1854 to $65,-000,000; sinking the next year to $38,000,-000, and again rising in 1857 to $77,000,- 000.-Balt. Amer. A NAVAL FETE.

A letter from Havana gives a glowing description of the ball given on board the shipof the line Isabel II. on the night of the 11th. The illumination of the vessel from deck to the main top, and of the navy yard, with the continuous arched ways leading to the ship, was perfect, the decorations gorgeous and profuse, and the company embracing all the wealth and beauty we can boast. The value of the diamonds blazing in the crowd was immense, said to be counted by millions greatly reduced prices, and warranted to give price $1.25. of dollars. The only fault was the impossibility of seeing or individualizing. You could not approach a friend except by casualty in the moving mass, or reach any particular object of attraction except floated to it mid lace and brilliants. All the vessels of war in the vicinity were illuminated, and the show upon the bay and shore was a brilliant confusion-decoration and light realizing all the fancy of Eastern legends and story-a night scene of poetry without a rival in
